These are the directions that I mapped out, after 4 trips around the perimeter. I didn't use GPS. If you try it, I suggest making your own map and checking it against mine. You should also have a good sense of direction as there are a few streets with no signs, and some signs are twisted. The City of Hamilton offers a few good maps, two of which I used. I have a link to those city maps at www.NathanFleet.com in the Perimeter Hamilton section. Drive safely, watch for cyclists and animals.
